LAW SOCIETY FINUAS BACKGROUND

The Law Society Finuas Network is a solicitor training Network promoted by the Law Society of Ireland. The Network aims to develop the expertise of legal firms to an international standard and thereby enhance the global competitiveness of member firms competing in the arena of international financial services. The network is led by a steering group which includes the following members: William Fry, Mason Hayes & Curran, Browne Legal, Reddy Charlton, Elavon and the Law Society of Ireland.

The principal aims of the network are to promote and support the continued development of network members. This is as a strategic response to the existing and emerging competitive challenges and opportunities facing legal and taxation advisors in the international financial services sector, this network provides the necessary specialised training, enabling solicitors to compete on an international platform to attract international firms to the Irish jurisdiction.

The secondary aim of the network is to develop the skills of existing staff and expand the pool of high value, specialised and market-appropriate skills within the industry. This is achieved through the specialised nature of the legal, taxation and global business training courses in particular the delivery of the Post-Graduate Diploma in International Financial services Law.
